THE SISAL FIBER CROP

Yield From Large

GOOD QUALITY

It Can Easily Get an Outlet in the Mainland Market.
Weedon's Talk.

The directors of the Hawaiian Sisal Fiber Company held a special meeting yesterday morning at which W. C. Weedon, the Secretary and Treasurer, presented a report of his investigations into the mainland market for the product of the company's plantation at Sisal, near Ewa, Oahu, and presented also estimates for machinery with which to equip the plantation. Those present were Cecil Brown, President; W. C. Weedon, Secretary and Treasurer, and A. H. Turner, manager.

Reports were made at the meeting indicating that the industry in the Hawaiian Islands had passed the experimental stage, and that in the neighborhood of 150 acres of sisal would soon be taken off. After the reports were submitted and read a committee, consisting of the Secretary and manager, was appointed to make certain recommendations as to the machinery and equipment needed for a cleaning plant, the same to be submitted to the stockholders at their forthcoming annual meeting in February.

The Treasurer's report showed four points of interest. First, that Hawaii can successfully raise fiber to compete with products elsewhere; second, that sisal hemp is not likely to get as low in price as in former years; third, that conditions of land here, especially on the lower flats, are unexcelled for sisal production; fourth, the Treasurer believed that sisal hemp in Hawaii has a remarkable future before it, and affords a splendid inducement for the investment of capital.

The company controls about 3,000 acres at Sisal, Oahu, between 600 and 700 acres of which are laid out with sisal plants at the present time. The plants yield twice a year, averaging about a ton an acre. The prevailing price for sisal is good, and the company expects to realize well on their investment this year.

Mr. Weedon submitted a large amount of correspondence bearing upon the price of machinery, shafting, engines and presses, and upon the demand for sisal. In his report, presenting the result of his investigations on the mainland, he said that having previously sent samples of the fibre to C. R. Dodge, the Special Agent on Fibres in the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., he met him at the Pan-American Exposition. More samples of the local product were shown him, the agent giving them careful and critical examination, questioning him closely as to the character of the soil on the company's property. He pronounced the fibre of excellent quality, comparing favorably with any he had seen, and expressed the opinion that the nature of the coral islands was wonderfully well adapted to the cultivation of the true sisal plant.

Mr. Weedon made a visit to the Independent Cordage Company, of Toronto, Canada, and submitted to them three different growths of fibre samples. The members of the company were well pleased with them, especially the tensile strength when compared with some Manila fibre they had just received from the Philippines. The company expressed its willingness to take the entire product as it came along.

At Milwaukee he saw large distributors of sisal twine, and ascertained the demand for sisal hemp is far beyond the supply and that all through the western States the farmers prefer the sisal twine. One factory manager sent a report on samples submitted to him for inspection, that they were superior. At Cleveland, Ohio, another distributor, concerned for twine were much interested in the samples shown by Mr. Weedon, and expressed a desire to take the entire output, offering a good price, f. o. b. ship at Honolulu. Mr. Fitter, a prominent Philadelphia handler of twine, expressed every confidence in the success of the local enterprise. Mr. Weedon was shown samples of sisal received by this dealer from Porto Rico, which were inferior to the Hawaiian product. Mr. Fitter asked to have a ton of the Hawaiian fibre shipped on to him that he might have it worked up and he could then determine the true value.

As to machinery, Mr. Weedon reported he had visited several factories manufacturing fibre machines. He saw the Albee Smith machine and made a test with some also leaves upon which it did very good work; the leaves, however, were young and green and the fibre undeveloped, but the experiment was a fair one. He looked over a machine manufactured in Paterson, N. J., which he thought was a well-built machine, and he was assured that the machines were giving the best of satisfaction wherever used.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions, and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prandergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., wholesale agents.
